

CarePredict Board Of Directors:

Satish Movva
CEO & Founder

Satish Movva is the Founder and Chief Executive Officer of CarePredict. CarePredict addresses the problem of over-reliance on human observation in the care of seniors by utilizing continuous machine observation, sensing and deep learning to cue just-in-time interventions.

Satish previously founded ContinuLink to commercialize the first SaaS software for Homecare and Hospice agencies that he developed while serving as CIO at Interim Healthcare. Before that Satish was the founding CIO of Sheridan Healthcare where he created the first mobile EMR device on a Palm Pilot in 1998 and the first SaaS EMR for Neonatal ICUs in 2000. Before his service in health care, Satish worked with IBM in the insurance, health care, and law enforcement segments, holding various positions including Network Architect, Systems Management Architect and Security Sub-System Architect in California, Florida, New Zealand, and Scotland.

Satish has over 30 years of experience in Information Technology, twenty-three of them in health care technology.
